President's Letter

Dear Students, Alumni
and Donors,

It's time for me to send out the President's letter as we wrap up the Summer Term before the Fall Term (well, Summer and Fall for those in the Northern hemisphere!). The last five months have been unusual to say the least. You have probably experienced a number of delays, cancellations, rearrangements, and disappointments. Some have experienced grievous loss of loved ones. And most if not all of these circumstances have been beyond our control. Such situations do indeed play on our anxieties and fears and test our faith in the living God.

Perhaps some of you found yourself reviewing the book of James: "... whenever you face various kinds of trials/temptations." I had to recall that James tells us that we can regard all these things adding up to joy because of who our Triune God is. He mentions four things regarding the God he and his readers worshiped. God 1) gives, 2) gives to all, 3) gives to all generously, and 4) gives without reproach (not making us wish we had never asked). Our Triune God, revealed in Jesus Christ and by his Word and Spirit, remains the same in character and purpose whether we are in the midst of trials and temptations or not. Our Triune God's working is not thwarted by our earthly circumstances, even if they are moved by the remnant of evil powers operating in our fallen world.

Our God remains faithful, remains the same, yesterday, today and forever. Nothing can separate us from the love of God. The meaning and purpose of our lives in Christ cannot be taken from us. Our Triune Creator and Redeemer God remains sovereign over all—upholding, guiding, cooperating and overruling. Our gracious God does not allow anything that he cannot ultimately redeem.

That truth, of course, is most powerfully lived out in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus for us and our salvation. Even crucifixion could not stop the Lord Jesus from accomplishing his redemptive purpose. In fact, it was incorporated into it by the gracious providence of our Triune God. "For the joy set before him, he endured the cross" (Heb. 12:2).

But yes, we "fight the fight of faith," especially when trials and temptations draw close. But that, after all, is what we are taught to expect. That's just what Jesus prays about in his high priestly or intercessory prayer for us in John 17. Knowing and counting on his eternal purpose to leave us, for a little while, in this fallen world as his disciples and witnesses, is not easy. But being renewed daily in faith, hope and love toward our Redeemer God is the right struggle to be in. For our God is the one who gives, gives to all, gives generously and gives without reproach. Jesus, "for the joy set before him endured the cross"—for us!

I trust also that there have been various signs of God's own presence and faithfulness giving you comfort, strength and peace over these past months. Such signs serve as reminders, indicators, even though they are not meant to justify our trials. Only the redemptive life of the Son of God can do that. Cathy and I have had a welcome few of those in the past months. Our daughter Linda and her husband Liam are expecting a baby girl!

Cont. I also would like to share with you some signs of God's providential care and of hope that involve GCS. Let me share with you several of those. First of all, we had a successful summer term with just about the normal number of classes and enrolled students. And I heard a few students remark that they had a little bit more time this term to devote to the courses (and family time, too). From my perspective that's all to the good!

Second, I am very pleased to announce that we have received the renewal of our accreditation for five years from the Distance Education Accreditation Commission (DEAC). Word of that took a little longer than expected, but was received when it came through just a few weeks ago. All the work put into that effort by my staff, Russell Duke, Mike Morrison, Lance McKinnon and Georgia McKinnon, paid off—a very significant hurdle to clear. So, thank the Lord (and the GCS staff!).

We also applied for and have been granted by the DEAC the OK to offer a third degree, the Master of Divinity (MDiv.). There are some minor requirements set by the states of CA and NC to be met before we can officially enroll students in that degree program. But they should easily be fulfilled. I'll let Dean Morrison tell you more about that very encouraging development.

Another notice you'll appreciate is that the GCS Board decided that, for the benefit of all, tuition for 2021 through December 2022 will remain what the current rate is: $220/unit, $660/three-credit course.

And finally, I should note that our GCS graduation ceremony has been rescheduled to take place on Friday, July 23 during the GCI International Conference, July 21-25, 2021. So, we'll be looking forward to that wonderful time of gathering.

I hope to hear of many of you signing up for our coming Fall classes. A great lineup, if I don't say so myself. And if you yourself are not planning on taking a course, perhaps you can think of someone you might encourage to do so. As you know, you don't have to commit to a degree. You can simply take a class you're interested in. Georgia will be waiting to hear from you!

Grace and Peace in Christ Jesus,
Dr. Gary Deddo
President

New Degree Option: Master of Divinity

Our accrediting agency now allows us to offer the Master of Divinity (MDiv).¹ In many seminaries, this is the “standard” pastoral degree; it is sometimes a benchmark for employment, for entry into chaplaincy programs, or for entry into PhD or DMin programs. At least 72 semester units are required for the degree, following the pattern set by the dominant accrediting agency for theological schools. Some students may wish to choose their courses in light of this degree.

How will the MDiv work at GCS?

Our MDiv degree requires 25 courses, 72 semester units of credit. This requires three years of full-time study, but since all our students are part-time, most students will take six or more years to complete the degree; ten years is the maximum. At one course per semester, it will take a little more than eight years. There's much to learn, and it is a significant achievement.

The MDiv requires five courses in biblical studies, two in church history, seven in Christian ministry, three in Field Education, six in theology, a written thesis, and a capstone course. All courses must be passed with a grade of C+ or better; the grade point average must be 3.0 or higher.

Portfolio necessary

An important component of the MDiv Capstone Course is a review and analysis of your previous work at GCS. You will need copies of the major papers you did for the courses required for the degree. See the CM599 syllabus for the list of papers you'll need. We hope that you have stored printed or electronic copies of your papers and the instructors' comments. If a disaster has wiped out your copies, we might be able to find your paper in an old GCS computer archive. But if your paper was submitted by email, it might be lost forever, and we'll have to work out an alternative.

- Even if you do not plan to get the MDiv, it is possible that you'll change your mind later, so it is best to save your papers now, even before you formally enter the program.
- Hard disks have been known to fail. Save printed copies of your papers, along with comments made by the instructors when the papers were graded.
- As additional insurance for your papers, we highly recommend that you keep a copy of your final papers on the GCS website. Log in and go to your dashboard. In the right column is a box labelled “Private files.” Click on “Manage private files,” then upload a copy of your papers here (label them by course number), and you will be able to access them in future semesters.

- If you did not take a course that is required for the portfolio (e.g., you took a similar course at another school and had transfer credit), and did not have a similar final paper, or your files have been destroyed, contact our portfolio coordinator, lance.mckinnon@gcs.edu.

What if you already have a degree?

If you already have the 42-unit Master of Pastoral Studies or Master of Theological Studies degree, you can transfer 36 units into the MDiv program, and you would then need to earn an additional 36 units in the next ten years. If you did a thesis for the first degree, that will suffice for the MDiv as well. But if you did TM501 option A, then you will need to write a thesis, either in theology or in Christian ministry.

If you want two degrees, you will need 78 units. If you want only the MDiv degree, 72 units. If you can take three or more courses each year, going straight for the MDiv is a viable option. But if you can take only two courses per year, you won't be able to finish the MDiv within the ten-year maximum. In that case, you can complete the first degree, then “reset the clock” to give yourself an additional ten years to complete the MDiv.

How do you begin?

You are welcome to begin planning for the MDiv now, especially by taking courses that are required for that degree. But you will not be able to enter the program formally until you have completed 36 semester units, including at least nine units of theology and nine units of ministry, with a GPA of 3.0 or better. If you think you can complete all the requirements within ten years, you may ask the Registrar to put you on the list for this degree. However, there is no penalty for delaying this decision until a later date.²

Dr. Michael Morrison
Dean of Faculty

² However, in the two-degree approach, there may be a penalty for delaying the MPS or MTS degree. For example, if a student has accumulated 50 semester units and then takes the MPS or MTS, only 36 of those units can be used for the MDiv.

On July 23, 2021, GCS will hold its 3rd graduation ceremony as part of our denominational conference in Charlotte, NC.

GCS Welcomes New Treasurer, Robert Meade

At the most recent GCS Board Meeting, Mat Morgan, the Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer of GCS passed his Treasurer role to Robert Meade. Though Mr. Morgan will continue as the CFO of GCS, Mr. Meade will handle financial duties and responsibilities pertaining to the regular operations of the seminary. Mr. Meade is the Accounting and Budgeting Manager of Grace Communion International. GCS would like to thank Mat Morgan for his service in this role, and extend a welcome to Robert Meade.

Fall 2020 Registrar's Update

Our Fall semester is upon us, and we are offering the following classes: Hermeneutics, Church History:

The First Millennium, Practice of Ministry, Experiencing the Trinity, Nature of Humans and Salvation, and Theological Ethics. Registration details have been sent to all current students and alumni who may be interested in taking a class. If you are a current student or alumni who did not receive the registration email, please contact me.

If you would like to review your academic goals or chart a plan for your studies, please feel free to contact me via email or phone call. With the introduction of our MDiv, this may be a good time to review your path.

As always, if you know of any potential student who may benefit from classes that we offer, please encourage them to contact us.
